

An elevator of an office building any night any day, any city in Spain. Chance decides that three perfect strangers stay locked on it. During the closure and after failed attempts to leave, women will show their true self, their phobias and their likes, their love, sexual problems, their successes, their failures ... And the real reason that led them to take the elevator. Sitcom led sometimes to the extreme of absurdity may find very daily .