° ° Eva Braun is facing its end. At the end of the world, at the end of their hopes , the end of his love ... his life .

When everything ends , when a stock reaches its consummation, what remains?

Just memories of a life lived and which was closely linked to that of a singular man.

From a bunker and over sixteen feet below ground , Eva looks imminent outcome.

Meanwhile write letters to the man she loved . They are farewell letters he never read but in which she pours her deepest feelings , love , children who did not , jealousy , sex .

When it's over , when your world disappears at the end of his young life a woman writes a heartbreaking living will .

When I met with Hitler just 17, ligo his life to him. Now decides also link his death to his.

" Wherever he goes , I go. Wherever he rest I will rest . I know what fate awaits me is not in vain I have chosen myself. "
